Stop Smoking Clinic

A research study is being conducted by the Habit Abatement Clinic of Langley Porter Institute to determine the effectiveness of two methods used to help people with cardiopulmonary disease stop smoking. The project is federally funded and focuses on cigarette smoking as drug addiction.

Educational discussions and behavior modification are the two treatment methods being used. In group discussions, patients examine their reasons for smoking and why past attempts to quit have been unsuccessful.

The fee is $75, $25 of which is refundable six months after completion of the program. The six-month follow-up allows researchers to make data complete. Anyone interested in attending the clinic should call 681-8080, x453.

Suggestions on Traffic Cutback

In an attempt to cut down traffic congestion on and around the UCSF campus, the Parking and Transportation Task Force sponsored a campuswide Suggestion Contest.

The winners, Gary Bentley, Rachel Cortez and Dennis O'Dell, recommended that vanpool routes be published in campus publications and posted, and that vanpool service be made available to part-time employees. The Task Force decided to select these winners, even though such a program already existed on campus, in order to call attention to part-time vanpooling.

Pharmacy Dean FDA Commissioner

Jere E. Goyan, dean of the School of Pharmacy, has been named commissioner of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

Goyan, 49, who will take a leave of absence from UCSF, also holds an appointment as UCSF professor of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Chemistry, and has served as dean since 1967. Under his leadership the School of Pharmacy has continued to develop a reputation as one of the leading professional schools in the country.

Breast Cancer Study

The sisters of more than one hundred women who have had breast cancer have participated in a study currently under way in the Department of Epidemiology and International Health. The study examines similarities and contrasting traits among women born within 30 months of sisters who later had breast cancer.

Peggy Boyd, who conducts the study, would like more women between the ages of 35 and 60 to volunteer. She will send them a confidential questionnaire that is easy to complete; the questionnaire will be the only contact between herself and the volunteer. It is hoped the information obtained through the confidential questionnaire will add to knowledge of women's life styles and the relationship to breast cancer.

If you wish to participate in their study, please contact Epidemiology and International Health at 666-1375.

UCSF and Harvard Pair

The UCSF School of Medicine has paired with Harvard to lead the country in research career development awards. This is a bench mark for the ability of an institution to attract bright young investigators, and is therefore a prediction of future major contributions to medical research. During the four years 1975-78, UCSF School of Medicine and Harvard Medical School have taken number one and number two spots every year.

In 1975 UCSF, with 38 awards, was first, and Harvard was second with 37. In 1976 and 1977 the schools reversed: Harvard had 41 and UCSF had 33. In 1978 UCSF received 47 awards, and Harvard in second place had 43. The University of Pennsylvania had 27.

Programs in this category cover research and modified research career development, academic career awards, and young investigator and clinical investigator awards.

"Reach to Recovery"

The American Cancer Society needs volunteers to participate in the Reach-to-Recovery program at SFGH and other hospitals. Women who recovered from breast cancer at least a year ago are being sought to visit breast cancer patients in the hospital, offering them advice and emotional support on the road to recovery. The volunteers are trained by the Cancer Society. If you can help, please call the American Cancer Society, 673-7979.

Affirmative Action Development

New UC-Systemwide affirmative action programs are benefiting three distinct groups of employees at UCSF.

A one-year pilot program in preventive rehabilitation helps employees who become disabled to keep their jobs or find new ones.

Two-year management fellowships are giving minorities and women in management positions opportunities to pursue graduate and undergraduate degrees and to have top-ranking administrators as mentors who expose them to high-level administrative processes and personnel.

A faculty career development program is geared toward correcting the numerical imbalance on the faculty by providing funds to minority and women nontenured faculty members for research and writing that will improve their chances for advancement to tenure. The program also helps UCSF's recruitment efforts by providing summer supplements, released time, and other provisions that make the University an attractive place in which to work.

15c Shopper's Bus

A Merchant's Shuttle for the UCSF campus began operating last month. It runs every 15 minutes, picking up passengers between 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. at the Third Avenue and Parnassus bus shelter and going as far as 16th Avenue and Judah. The return trip is along Irving Street to Third, then up to Parnassus. Shuttle bus fare is 15 cents each way, or a coupon from one of the participating merchants.

This new service was arranged by the Chancellor's Task Force on Parking and Transportation with the support of the Inner Sunset Merchants Association. For further information call 666-1511.

Dentistry Program "Over Easy" Nov. 8

"Over Easy," KQED-TV (Channel 9) program especially aimed at older people, will feature Samuel Wycoff, chairman and professor of General Dentistry, School of Dentistry, on Thursday, November 8, at 6 p.m.

The producer of "Over Easy" attended a UCSF Brown Bag Tour in June on "Dental Needs of Older Persons," presented by Wycoff, and asked him to be a guest.

The program is carried on 243 PBS stations and is viewed by some two million viewers.

Wycoff has been invited by the host of the show, Hugh Downs, to make another appearance in the near future.

Decrease in Burglaries

Significant decreases in burglaries and auto thefts at UCSF were reported in the 1978 Summary Crime Report released last month by UC-Systemwide.

The report, which contains statistics for all nine UC campuses, notes that at UCSF burglaries decreased by 24.5 percent and auto thefts by 64.5 percent. At the same time, however, there was a 9 percent increase in thefts of property valued over $50 and a 4 percent increase in thefts of property under $50. No homicides or rapes were reported.

The UCSF Police Department has an active crime prevention program that utilizes awareness campaigns, closed circuit TV and alarm systems.
